

UAE among countries where expats earn the world's highest

Our UAE Correspondent

EXPATRIATES in the UAE are among the highest paid in the world and they're taking home more money than their peers in top international destinations like Australia or Japan.

According to the latest Expat Explorer Survey by HSBC, which polled 22,318 respondents from 163 countries, the average expat salary in the UAE is the sixth highest in the world, just behind Switzerland, the US, Hong Kong, China and Singapore.

Among the nearly 1,000 top executive respondents surveyed in the UAE, the annual pay cheque is pegged at more than $1,55,000 (₹ 1.14 crore) or roughly over Dhs 40,000 (₹ 8 lakh) monthly.

The study also found that moving abroad has resulted in higher take-home pay, with a fifth of the expatriates in the UAE saying that their incomes have at least doubled since making the shift to the UAE.

Bigger salaries, along with career growth and greater quality of life, are among the top considerations for expatriates when making the decision to move to another country.

The UAE, particularly Dubai, has been considered one of the best destinations for expatriates due to its zero income taxation, good quality of life and high compensation packages. In the latest Quality of Living Survey by Mercer, Dubai was ranked the best city for expats in the Middle East and Africa.

Overall, HSBC's survey showed that expats in Switzerland are the biggest earners, with an average annual salary of $2,02,865.

Expatriates in the US are the second-biggest earners at $1,85,119, with Hong Kong workers taking the third spot at $1,78,706. Expatriates in China, which enjoys a booming economy, also reported that their average salaries jumped from $1,34,093 in 2016 to $1,72,678 this year.

Average expat salaries are Switzerland: $2,02,865 (₹ 1.49 crore); the US: $1,85,119 (₹ 1.36 crore); Hong Kong: $1,78,706 (₹ 1.31 crore); China: $1,72,678 (₹ 1.27 crore); UAE: $1,55,039 (₹ 1.14 crore); India: $1,31,759 (₹ 96.99 lakh); Indonesia: $1,27,362 (₹ 93.75 lakh); Japan: $1,27,362 (₹ 93.75 lakh); and Australia: $1,25,803 (₹ 92.61 lakh).

The survey, which is now on its 11th year, ranks countries based on several factors and in the 'economics' category, the UAE climbed one place from last. This means that the UAE is now the fourth best destination to move to for those whose main reason for working abroad is to earn more money.

The economics table was based on expats' feedback on disposable income, wage growth, savings, economic confidence, entrepreneurship, politics, career progression, working life and job security.

According to the survey results, the majority (67 per cent) of UAE expats now enjoy more disposable income, thanks to higher earnings and the tax-free environment.

More expats (85 per cent) are also able to build up their savings and pay off their debt. However, 93 per cent are not fully aware of or have explored their financial options, according to Marwan Hadi, Head of Retail Banking and Wealth Management at HSBC-UAE.

When asked what their priorities are, 48 per cent cited buying property and 53 per cent chose saving for retirement. About 17 per cent also own a property in the UAE, but HSBC noted that a typical expat keeps only a fifth of their wealth in the country.

"Traditionally, expats have channeled most of their investments outside the UAE often to their home country. However, the recent announcement by the UAE government to afford special residency-visa privileges for expat retirees has certainly paved the way for more to consider their long-term plans in the UAE. Already two-thirds (66 per cent) live here for more than five years, and as expat-friendly reforms come forth, we might see more expats settling their roots down here," said Mr Hadi.

Domestic cruise sector will give jobs to 2.5L youth in five years

AAT News Service

THE new domestic cruise terminal in Mumbai has been inaugurated by the Union Minister for Road Transport & Highways, Shipping and Water Resources, Nitin Gadkari and the Chief Minister of Maharashtra, Devendra Fadnavis. The much-awaited Mumbai-Goa cruise service 'Angriya' was also flagged off on the occasion.

Addressing the gathering, Mr Gadkari said domestic cruise sector will provide employment opportunities to 2.5-lakh youth in next 5 years. It will cater to nearly 30-lakh passengers from Mumbai in the next 10 years. India has the potential to attract 40-lakh cruise tourist passengers by 2041, out of which 32 lakh would visit Mumbai.

The domestic cruise terminal as well as the soon-to-be inaugurated international cruise terminal will hugely benefit them.

Works to the tune of ₹ 2.5-lakh crore have been earmarked for ports under the Sagarmala project, said Mr Gadkari.

Mr Gadkari has opened the east coast of Mumbai to the common people. Domestic and the international cruise terminals will create jobs and have a positive impact on development, said Mr Fadnavis.

Towards women's eco empowerment in Iraq

AAT News Service

THE World Bank Group, the Government of Iraq, and the Government of Canada have launched a $1.95-million grant to support Iraq's efforts to strengthen systems and deliver programmes to empower women economically and politically.

The 'Gender and Social Protection in Iraq: Towards Economic Empowerment' programme consists of two complementary components: the first component will set in place long-term legislative and institutional capacity for gender mainstreaming, while the second will introduce programmes that will support the economic and political empowerment of women in Iraq, including entrepreneurial programmes for poor and vulnerable women.

"We are excited to partner with the Government of Canada to support women's empowerment in Iraq," said Saroj Kumar Jha, World Bank Mashreq Regional Director. "We are committed to supporting women in Iraq and we'll work tirelessly to ensure that Iraqi women have the opportunity to participate fully in all facets of life and to contribute to Iraq's socioeconomic development."

This project contributes to the wider World Bank's socioeconomic intervention in Iraq and is consistent with the Iraq's Second Poverty Reduction Strategy and the Social Protection Strategic Framework.

"The programme will support the ongoing gender empowerment efforts led by the government," said Mahdi Al-Alak, Secretary-General of the Iraqi Council of Ministers. "It will help us achieve women's empowerment by reducing legal, institutional, and social constraints and unleash their talent and energy to make our economy and society stronger."

"Canada recognises that supporting gender equality and the empowerment of women is the best way to build a more peaceful, more inclusive and more prosperous Iraq," said Ambassador Paul Gibbard, Canada's first resident Ambassador to Iraq since 1991. "With our partners from the World Bank and the Government of Iraq, we will work to empower women so that they are able to play a vital role in establishing and maintaining peace in their communities – a necessary precondition for stronger economic growth in Iraq."

The programme will entail a review of existing women's empowerment programmes and provide technical support through workshops and working sessions to government officials on enhancing the design and implementation of these programmes, as well as on strengthening monitoring and evaluation schemes.

1.5L health centres by 2022

AAT News Service

AS part of Ayushman Bharat-Pradhan Mantri Jan Arogya Yojana (PM-JAY), 1.5-lakh health and wellness centres are to be operationalised by 2022 to provide primary care services backed by robust IT systems, said Anupriya S Patel, Union Minister of State for Health & Family Welfare.

The Central government has launched its ambitious Ayushman Bharat with its two components of health and wellness centres for comprehensive primary health care with a continuum of care approach and financial protection for secondary and tertiary-care hospitalisation.

Ayushman Bharat represents a transition from segmented, fragmented and sectoral programme implementation models towards a comprehensive, holistic, need-based healthcare system, said Ms Patel, while speaking at Assocham's 98th annual meeting in New Delhi.

Ayushman Bharat seeks to undertake path-breaking interventions to holistically address health at primary, secondary and territory-care level. It encapsulates a progression towards promotive, preventive, curative, palliative and rehabilitative aspects of universal healthcare through health and wellness centres for access to comprehensive primary care and provision of financial protection for accessing curative care at secondary and tertiary levels through engagement of both public and private sector, added Ms Patel.

PMJAY will improve access to quality secondary and tertiary care procedures to bottom 40 per cent of the population covering about 50-crore beneficiaries. Thirty-three states have signed MoU under PMJAY and 26 states have launched implementation.

Over 40,000 applications have been received for hospital empanelment and so far over 14,000 hospitals have been empanelled or are in the process of empanelment and as on October 12, 2018. Some 1,48,947 e-Cards have been issued with over 70,000 beneficiaries admitted in hospitals, added Ms Patel.

Plight Of The Poor

ECONOMIC advances around the world mean that while fewer people live in extreme poverty, almost half the world's population – 3.4 billion people – still struggles to meet basic needs. Living on less than $3.20 per day reflects poverty lines in lower middle-income countries, while $5.50 a day reflects standards in upper middle-income countries, the World Bank said in its biennial Poverty and Shared Prosperity Report, titled 'Piecing Together the Poverty Puzzle'. The World Bank states that it remains committed to achieving the goal of ending extreme poverty, defined as living on less than $1.90 a day, by 2030. The share of the world's population living in extreme poverty fell to 10 per cent in 2015, but the pace of extreme poverty reduction has slowed, the Bank warned on September 19 this year. However, given that economic growth means that a much greater proportion of the world's poor now live in wealthier countries, additional poverty lines and a broader understanding of poverty are crucial to fully fighting it, says the report. "Ending extreme poverty by 2030 and boosting shared prosperity are our goals, and we remain committed to them," says World Bank Group President, Jim Yong Kim. "We can take a broader view of poverty at different levels and dimensions around the world. This view reveals that poverty is more widespread and entrenched, underlining the importance of investing in people." While rates of extreme poverty have declined substantially, falling from 36 per cent in 1990, the report's expanded examination of the nature of poverty demonstrates the magnitude of the challenge in eradicating it. Over 1.9 billion people, or 26.2 per cent of the world's population, were living on less than $3.20 per day in 2015. Close to 46 per cent of the world's population was living on less than $5.50 a day. The report also goes beyond monetary measures of poverty to understand how access to adequate water and sanitation, education, or electricity affect a family's well-being. And since the burdens of poverty often fall most heavily on women and children, the report analyses how poverty can vary within a household. The report finds that the incomes of the poorest 40 per cent grew in 70 of the 91 economies monitored. In more than half of the economies, their incomes grew faster than the average, meaning they were getting a bigger share of the economic pie. However, progress in sharing prosperity lagged in some regions of the world. The report also warns that data needed to assess shared prosperity is weakest in the very countries that most need it to improve. Only one in four low-income countries and four of the 35 recognised fragile and conflict-affected states have data on shared prosperity data over time. The new measures allow the World Bank to better monitor poverty in all countries, in multiple aspects of life, and for all individuals in every household.

ON June 28, 2016, 31 leading non-partisan scientific societies in the US wrote a letter to US policy-makers. "Observations throughout the world make it clear that climate change is occurring, and rigorous scientific research concludes that the greenhouse gases emitted by human activities are the primary driver," the letter asserted.

They informed the members of the Congress that they arrived at this conclusion based on multiple independent lines of evidence and the vast body of peer-reviewed science. The most important step in addressing the issue internationally is the Paris Agreement, which virtually all countries adopted in December 2015.

It provided the international legal framework for addressing climate change, by seeking to limit the increase in global average temperatures to well below 2°C relative to pre-industrial levels by encouraging the use of low-carbon energy sources to reduce greenhouse gas emissions.

Recently, the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) published a report titled 'Climate Change and Nuclear Power 2018'. This 123-page-report declared that "a significant increase of all clean, low-carbon technologies such as nuclear power is needed if climate change targets set under the Paris Agreement to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change are to be met".

Based on the data provided by IAEA, the report stated that about 70 per cent of the world's electricity comes from burning fossil fuels, but to meet climate goals by 2050, 80 per cent of electricity will need to be low carbon.

"Nuclear power can make an important contribution to reducing greenhouse gas emissions while delivering energy in the increasingly large quantities needed for global economic development. Nuclear power plants produce virtually no greenhouse gas emissions or air pollutants during their operation and only very low emissions over their full life cycle," the report noted.

Nuclear power serves many non-electrical uses such as seawater desalination, district heating, hydrogen production, oil extraction and other petrochemical applications, and propelling large tankers and container ships.

Nuclear power helped to avoid significant quantities of carbon dioxide (CO₂). The report revealed that over the period 1970-2015, nuclear power avoided around 68 giga (thousand ables significantly could lead to increase in electricity prices and loss of employment.

The report estimated that the mean life cycle emissions from nuclear power are in the range of 5-20 gram CO₂ per kilowatt-hour, in the same range as hydroelectric and wind power, mainly coming from mining and milling uranium ore and enrichment.

IAEA listed the challenges compared with naturally occurring background radiation.

All activities, which may cause radiation exposure to workers and members of the public, are subject to strict regulation and control aimed at keeping the radiation exposures within prescribed limits.

The report reminded the readers that "while the devastating earthquake and tsunami

"Raising dykes and other protective embankments will be crucial to prevent flooding of low-lying coastal sites due to sea level rise. More frequent and more intense extreme weather events will likely exacerbate the impacts of gradual changes in temperature, precipitation and other weather attributes. The increasing frequency of extreme hot temperatures and low climate periods will require enhanced adaptation actions."

According to Steve Kidd, a columnist of Nuclear Engineering International, "nuclear advocates are making a huge mistake in adopting climate change as the prime argument for a huge expansion of reactor construction." (NEI, May 10, 2018)

He argues that "by so doing, nuclear will be marginalised as the industry effectively gets into bed with renewables, whose supporters will do everything to stop it that they can. Stating the obvious (i.e. all solutions are necessary to constrain carbon emissions) is not helpful when non-nuclear options continue to perpetuate the fear paradigm that bedevils nuclear." Mr Kidd argues that the other benefits of nuclear power such as reliability and security of supply deserve more emphasis.

million) tonnes of CO₂ in total, close to the entire actual emissions from the power sector over 2010-2015.

The report cautioned that any decline in nuclear capacity projections might raise serious concerns about the prospects for climate change mitigation. There are serious economic implications as well.

Replacing this nuclear energy capacity entirely with low carbon renewable generation capacity may increase investment and financing expenditure on renew-faces by nuclear power to realise its full potential: the debate around radiation exposure, radioactive waste, off-site effects of nuclear accidents and its high capital costs.

The report examined these challenges and described the innovations by the nuclear industry in developing new fuel and reactor designs. It reassures the public that the radiation exposure to the public from the normal operation of nuclear power plants and the nuclear fuel cycle infrastructure is negligible in 2011 in Japan caused 20,000 casualties, none were related to the release of radioactive material in the accident at the Fukushima Daiichi nuclear power plant.

"The levels of radiation exposure from the accident were similar to the global average background levels of radiation and no radiation related health effects are expected among exposed members of the public and their descendants".

IAEA included possible safety enhancements due to the potential impacts of climate change:

India, ADB sign $110-mn pact to improve rural connectivity in MP

AAT News Service

GOVERNMENT of India and Asian Development Bank (ADB) signed a $110 million loan to finance the upgrade of 2,800 kilometres (kms) all-weather rural roads in Madhya Pradesh under Prime Minister's rural roads programme - Pradhan Mantri Gramin Sadak Yojana (PMGSY).

Tranche two loan is part of the $500 million second rural connectivity investment programme for India approved by the ADB Board in December 2017. The overall programme is aimed at improving rural connectivity, facilitating safer and more efficient access to livelihood

Kumar Khare, Additional Secretary, Department of Economic Affairs in the Ministry of Finance, who signed on behalf of the Government of India; and Kenichi Yokoyama, Country Director of ADB's India Resident Mission, who signed for ADB.

"The tranche two of the project will provide continued assistance to PMGSY by upgrading rural roads in Madhya Pradesh that will support the government's long term goal to achieve inclusive economic growth in rural India. It will give a big boost to the country's rural connectivity initiative," said Mr Khare after signing the loan agreement.

The loan will improve mobility for self-employment and livelihood opportunities in rural areas by improving access to district centres. The project will continue to support the government's drive for innovative approaches to reduce costs, conserve non-renewable natural resources, and promote the use of waste materials in rural road construction, said Mr Yokoyama.

In view of increased rainfall and storm surges in Madhya Pradesh, the road designs take into account these climate risks with measures such as greater elevation of road embankments and slope protection. Women were extensively consulted during the project design and will gain some key benefits, including improved access to healthcare, livelihoods and schooling, he added.

and socio-economic opportunities for rural communities through improvements to about 12,000 kms rural roads across the states of Assam, Chhattisgarh, Madhya Pradesh, Odisha, and West Bengal.

Tranche one loan of $250 million is currently under implementation in five project states, upgrading over 6,000 kms of rural roads. The signatories to the second rural connectivity investment programme were Sameer

Govt modifies operational guidelines for Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana

AAT News Service

THE government has decided to incorporate the provision of penalties for states and insurance companies for delay in settlement of insurance claims under the Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana (PMFBY). This crucial provision is part of the new operational guidelines issued by the government for implementation of PMFBY.

The farmers will be paid 12 per cent interest by insurance companies for the delay in settlement claims beyond two months of prescribed cut-off date. State governments will have to pay 12 per cent interest for the delay in release of state share of subsidy beyond three months of prescribed cut-off date submission of requisition by insurance companies. The new operational guideline comes into effect from rabi season. The rabi season begins from October..

The new operational guidelines also detail a standard operating procedure for evaluation of insurance companies and remove them from the scheme if found ineffective in providing services. The government has also decided to include perennial horticultural crops under the ambit of PMFBY on a pilot basis. The scheme, as per the new operational guidelines provides add on coverage for crop loss due to attack of wild animals, which will be implemented on a pilot basis. Aadhaar number will be mandatorily captured to avoid duplication of beneficiaries.

In order to ensure that more non-loanee farmers are insured under the scheme, apart from various awareness activities being scheduled, the insurance companies are given a target of enrolling 10 per cent more non-loanee farmers than the previous corresponding season. The new operational guidelines address the current challenges faced while implementing the scheme by putting forth effective solutions. The much demanded rationalisation of premium release process has been incorporated in the new guidelines.

As per this, the insurance companies need not provide any projections for the advance subsidy. Release of upfront premium subsidy will be made at the beginning of the season based on 50 per cent of 80 per cent of total share of subsidy of corresponding season of previous year as Government of India /state subsidy.

Balance premium will be paid as a second instalment based on the specific approved business statistics on the portal for settlement of claims. Final instalment will be paid after reconciliation of entire coverage data on portal based on final business statistics. This will reduce the delay in settling the claims of farmers.

Commerce Min releases study on India-China trade relations

AAT News Service

THE Union Minister for Commerce & Industry and Civil Aviation, Suresh Prabhu, released a study by the Department of Commerce on India-China trade. The report tries to analyse the magnitude, extent and plausible reasons of India's rising trade deficit with China.

India's trade relationship with China is unique and no other bilateral trading relationship evokes as much interest in India as the India-China trade relationship. From being a small trading partner of India in 2001, within a span of 15 years, China has rapidly become India's biggest trading partner. Trade between the two countries has been expanding but India's trade deficit with China has been growing, said Mr Prabhu.

While releasing the study, he said most industry associations want the government to pursue a defensive approach to free trade agreements (FTAs) and raise tariffs on the doctrine of domestic markets for domestic producers.

Protectionist policies are on the rise globally. The global use of protectionist measures in 2018 was unprecedented with the trade wars looming between two of the largest economies of the world. Hence, a comparative analysis of the concessions ceded by China on 200 products in its FTAs to India's competing countries like Peru, Pakistan, Australia, South Korea and ASEAN has been carried out by the Department of Commerce.

Also the imports of China from these countries as well as China's Most Favoured Nation

(MFN) rates have been studied. This analysis helps in studying whether an FTA or tariff concessions by China to India (like China has yielded to India's competing countries in FTA) can be beneficial in increasing India's exports to China.

The idea behind this exercise has been to identify whether tariff concessions by China to other countries impede raising the share of India's exports in the Chinese market. These lines can be taken up by India for negotiations with China under agreements like Asia Pacific Free Trade Agreement in which both India and China are involved during the review exercise, said Mr Prabhu.

The study is divided into eight sections beginning with an introduction into the historical aspects of trade relations between India and China and the trends of bilateral trade between the two. It also looks into the trends of trade deficit, and analyses India's exports and imports to and from China at the HS 6-digit level. It also analyses at HS 6-digit level, China's share in India's import basket (extent of dependency on China as a source) and India's share in China's export basket.

Competing countries who have FTAs with China, limits the scope for Indian exports. This is due to higher tariffs faced by exporters as compared to competing nations who have secured tariff concessions under their FTAs. The top 200 items of China's imports from India (2017) wherein the tariff advantages available to India's competing partners in the Chinese market have been analysed, added the minister.

FDI in telecom sector jumped 5 times in last 3 years: Manoj Sinha

Telecom sector plays important role in agriculture, poverty eradication, disaster preparedness and financial inclusion

AAT News Service

TODAY, India is the second largest telecommunications market in the world with around 1.18 billion customers. This transformation is moving India towards becoming a 'knowledge society' in the true sense, because growth of internet data services and the widespread use of mobile phones have also changed the way in which public services like education, transportation and healthcare are being delivered, said the Union Minister of State for Communications and Railways, Manoj Sinha. He was addressing a seminar on 'FDI in Telecom Sector: The Way Ahead', in New Delhi.

Telecom sector is also playing an important role in agriculture, poverty eradication, disaster preparedness and financial inclusion. "As we get the blueprint ready for transition to newer, emerging technologies like fifth generation (5G), machine-to-machine (M2M), and artificial intelligence (AI) etc, there would be need for investments. Therefore, in addition to domestic investments in the sector, Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) an important component of economic growth can play an important role in the sector as it has been doing. It is a matter of pride for us that FDI in the telecom sector has grown nearly five times over the last three years – from $1.3 billion in 2015-16 to $6.2 billion in 2017-18 and we look forward to continuous inflow of FDI in the sector," said Mr Sinha.

Aruna Sundararajan, Secretary, Telecom, emphasised the fact that foreign investment is necessary not only to supplement domestic capital but also to secure scientific, technical and industrial knowledge.

Anuradha Mitra, Member (Finance), Telecom Commission, Department of Telecommunications (DoT) reiterated that pursuant to the decision taken to abolish Foreign Investment Promotion Board (FIPB) last year, Department of Telecommunications is the nodal department for clearing FDI proposals relating to the telecommunications sector. She also highlighted that necessary processes/systems have been put in place to undertake this work with responsiveness. The seminar was attended by representatives from various ministries/departments, regulatory bodies, industry, academia etc. On the occasion, Mr Sinha also released a publication titled 'Telecom Sector Growth & FDI: A Way Ahead', which is a compilation put together by FIPP Wing of DoT together with the Indian Institute of Foreign Trade (IIFT). The compendium aims at providing relevant information relating to FDI policy and the telecommunications sector in India at one place to facilitate stakeholders.

The seminar included technical sessions and a panel discussion, which sensitised various stakeholders of the telecom sector, particularly those from the industry, on the various steps taken by the government to attract investment and ease the process of FDI approvals in the sector. Speakers for the seminar, coming from the government, academia, industry, legal firms, equity research firms etc., drew from their rich experiences in the diverse sectors and contributed immensely.

Dignitaries present on the occasion also included N Sivasailam, Special Secretary, DoT and Atul Chaturvedi, Additional Secretary, Department of Investment Policy and Promotion.

World Bank announces new global fund Problue for healthy oceans

AAT News Service

THE World Bank Group announced the creation of Problue, a new multi-donor trust fund that will support healthy and productive oceans by tackling marine pollution, managing fisheries and fostering the sustainable growth of coastal economies.

Problue, which was announced on the sidelines of the UN General Assembly, supports the implementation of the UN's Sustainable Development Goal 14, which covers the sustainable use of oceans, seas and marine resources. By investing in the long-term wealth of the oceans, Problue is also fully aligned with the World Bank's mission to end extreme poverty and increase the income and welfare of the poor.

"Healthy oceans protect biodiversity, provide jobs, food, drive growth, and keep the planet cool. Our oceans are nearing a tipping point on many fronts, from over-fishing and marine pollution to coastal erosion. Problue is designed to address these challenges and to develop and sustain our precious marine resources for generations to come," said Laura Tuck, World Bank Group Vice President, Sustainable Development.

Problue is part of the World Bank's overall Blue Economy programme, which takes a multi-pronged approach to ensuring the protection and sustainable use of marine resources. The World Bank's active Blue Economy portfolio is around $3.7 billion, with a further $1.5 billion in the pipeline. Projects range from implementing large regional fisheries programmes in Africa and the Pacific, to tackling all sources of marine pollution, and supporting coastal development around the world, with emphasis on addressing erosion and the other effects of climate change on marine and coastal resources.

Problue focusses on four key themes: the management of fisheries and aquaculture; the threat posed to ocean health by marine pollution, including plastics; the sustainable development of key oceanic sectors such as tourism, maritime transport and offshore renewable energy; and building the capacity of governments to manage their marine and coastal resources in an integrated fashion to deliver more and long-lasting benefits to countries and communities.

About $75 million has been committed so far to the fund, with Norway providing the initial pledge of $15 million as part of a planned multi-year contribution to Problue. Canada announced it would contribute $50 million to the fund and other donors include Germany, Sweden, Iceland and the European Commission. Denmark and France are also expected to contribute to Problue.

AAT News Service

THE Prime Minister, Narendra Modi, inaugurated a new airport in Jharsuguda – also known as the powerhouse of Odisha. Mr Modi also flagged off the Ude Desh Ka Aam Naagrik (UDAN) flight on Jharsuguda-Raipur sector.

Jharsuguda is the second airport of Odisha after Bhubaneswar to become operational and the first one to provide necessary connectivity to Bhubaneswar, Raipur and Ranchi under Regional Connectivity Scheme (RCS) UDAN. In Odisha, other than Jharsuguda, three more airports, namely, Jeyapore in Koraput district; Rourkela in Sundargarh district and Utkela in Kalahandi district are being developed to provide connectivity to remote and far-flung areas of the coastal state. For revival and upgradation of these four airports within the state of Odisha, ₹ 370 crore has been allocated under the Regional Connectivity Scheme.

Home Secretary launches 'e-Sahaj' web portal for issuing security clearance

AAT News Service

THE Union Home Secretary, Rajiv Gauba, launched an online 'e-Sahaj' portal in New Delhi for granting security clearance. The portal will facilitate an applicant to submit application online and also to view the status of his/her application from time to time.

Speaking on the occasion, Mr Gauba said, with the introduction of portal, the process has become standardised and it will be faster, transparent and easy to monitor. Various functionaries can access the application and documents online and take timely decisions.

He said, the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has recently streamlined the security clearance procedures and issued a fresh set of guidelines. A committee of officers meets every week in MHA for timely decision on security clearance proposals.

MHA has cleared about 1,100 cases of security clearance in the past one year. Although the given timeline is 90 days, MHA strives to decide security clearance cases in 60 days (average time per case in 2018 is 53 days), which is being reduced further. In 2016, there were 209 cases which were over 6 months old; in 2017, it came down to 154 cases and further down to 47 cases in

MHA is the nodal ministry for security clearances in certain sensitive sectors before issuing licence/permit, permission, contract etc to companies/bidders/individuals by the administrative ministry. The objective of national security clearance is to evaluate potential security threats, including economic threats, and provide risk assessment before clearing investment and project proposals in key sectors.

The aim is to strike a healthy balance between meeting the imperatives of national security and facilitating ease of doing business and promoting investment in the country.

Tech Mahindra appointed Managed Service Provider for five major ports of India

AAT News Service

As part of its efforts to promote ease of doing business through digital transformation and build a world-class port infrastructure in the country, the Indian Ports Association (IPA) appointed Tech Mahindra as the Managed Service Provider for five major ports at Mumbai, Kolkata, Chennai, Deendayal Port and Paradip Port Trust.

The initiative is a major step towards integrating the maritime sector and fostering growth and development of major public sector ports in the country.

Tech Mahindra is partnering with world-class leading players like SAP, Envision, CISCO, Dell, RTCom and other major players.

IPA has hired global consultancy services firm Ernst & Young to assist in conceptualising port-EBS and support IPA and ports in the implementation of this transformational initiative.

The proposed enterprise business system will comprise of three core solution components – port operations solution, standard enterprise resource planning solutions, and auxiliary solutions, and would tightly integrate with port community system (PCS) and other retained applications of ports.

Enterprise business standard processes and shared infrastructure on cloud, makes it the next generation modern system which will serve ports purpose in coming years. The system would be driven by transparent, simple and error-free business processes, easily measured by clearly defined key performance indicators, use latest technology to achieve strategic business objectives and integrate seamlessly with prevalent systems and devices.

The solution proposes a cafeteria approach for ports, which allows them to select the systems that they want to be implemented as per their needs. This model enables a minimal efforts in a seamless manner if new ports opt to join the system in near future.

The project implementation and stabilisation period is 20 months and operations and maintenance support is for five years. The five major port trusts, viz, Mumbai Port Trust, Kolkata Port Trust, Chennai Port Trust, Deendayal Port Trust and Paradip Port Trust have come together in this collaborative effort towards building a common shared platform for modernisation and automation of port processes.

WHILE launching the work on three rail connectivity projects in Bangladesh, including a cross-border link in Agartala, through two separate video conferencing in September 2018, Prime Minister, Narendra Modi and Prime Minister of Bangladesh, Sheikh Hasina repeatedly talked about their vision of restoring the pre-1965 road, rail and waterways links between the two countries to help their economic integration.

On October 1, 2018, the memories of a much older connectivity - pre-1947 to be precise – between the two neighbours was revived when two barges containing 1,233 tonnes of fly ash from a power plant in Bihar reached Pandu port in Assam after completing the longest river journey through Bangladesh covering a distance of 2,085 kms in one month.

The barges sailed from Kahlgaon in Bihar and passed through three crucial integrated national waterways of India to reach Pandu in Assam's Guwahati city in what was the longest haul in India's Inland Water Transport (IWT) sector movement. This river link was snapped by the vivisection of the Indian sub-continent in 1947. While the Kahlgaon port is located on the bank of the Ganga river, Pandu is on the Brahmaputra. The journey used the India-Bangladesh Protocol (IBP).

Fly ash is in great demand as raw material is used in cement and brick industry and is also used for the purpose of land filling. The consignment of 1,233 tonnes was delivered to a private company Star Cements for use in their cement plant in Guwahati. A major hurdle in transporting fly ash to the north eastern part of India is the limited opportunities offered by the Indian Railways. At present, fly ash is regularly transported in 40 kgs bags using railway wagons to cement plants located in the North East of India from Kahlgaon.

Indian industry sources said, the successful journey of the two barges will generate great confidence and interest in the inland waterways industry and vessel operators as more than 10 such pilot movements have been successfully completed lately on various stretches of national waterways. In July this year, the Inland Waterways Authority of India (IWAI) launched a dedicated cheaper mode of transport, substantial infrastructure development like multi-modal and inter-modal terminals, Roll on-Roll off (Ro-Ro) facilities, ferry services, navigation aids are underway. This recent journey of the two barges is expected to cement the economic viability of the wa-portation system.

The Indian government aims to develop the rivers of the North East as viable and sustainable means for cargo and passenger transportation. Instead of depending on a narrow strip of land connecting Indian mainland with North-eastern Indian states, and Bhutan for trade, thereby opening up a new vista of sub-regional economic co-operation which underpins the diplomacy of Prime Ministers Sheikh Hasina and Narendra Modi of stressing on bolstering connectivity between India and Bangladesh.

The Indian Commerce Ministry has made a strong pitch for strengthening waterways links between the two countries to boost bilateral trade further. Till only sometime back, maximum maritime trade between India and Bangladesh was routed through ports in Singapore. The traditional river waterways that connected various cities now in Bangladesh to India were operational till 1965 but the India-Pakistan war had shut them off.

The recent thrust to rebuild those waterways and develop new routes to ease connectivity will not only be in the interest of bilateral trade between India and Bangladesh but will also help Indian mainland to connect better with its own North-eastern states. Trade between India and Bangladesh has touched $9 billion out of which Bangladesh exports goods worth $900 million.

Ticketing systems for water transport, coastal roads, metro rail will be integrated

SPEAKING of various transports modes such as water, coastal roads, monorail and metro rail, the Chief Minister of Maharashtra, Devendra Fadnavis said the ticketing systems of these various modes will soon be integrated. The Mumbai-Goa cruise service is India's first luxury cruise liner. It would sail to Goa three days a week. It would give a new dimension to cruise services and help expand its horizons in Maharashtra, Gujarat, Karnataka and Kerala. The new terminal is centrally air-conditioned, with facade lighting. Mid-size cruise vessels with a carrying capacity of 300-400 passengers would be operated from Mumbai to Goa from the new terminal. Interacting with the media on board the maiden voyage of Angriya, the Union Minister for Road Transport & Highways, Shipping and Water Resources, Nitin Gadkari said 100 cruises such as this will be started, giving a boost to Mumbai Goa connectivity. Such services will be launched in rivers too. Water hotels will be set up along the Thane-Virar route. Water taxis will become operational for the new airport and for Panvel. The Central government is ready to build a jetty to facilitate water transport from Thane. A seaplane too is being planned, said the minister. The Bhumi Pujan for the Reclamation at Jawahar Dweep for tank farm was also performed on the occasion. Under this project, excavated rock material from metro rail project is being utilised by Mumbai Port for reclaiming 13 ha of land at Jawahar Dweep. The reclaimed land will be used for tank farm for storage of crude having capacity of

4.28-lakh KL. The project is scheduled to be completed by October 2019. The project adopts an environment-friendly approach for reclamation. It will result in savings of 50-lakh kms of truck movement through city roads and about 12-lakh litres of diesel for Mumbai Metro Rail Corporation, resulting in less pollution. For BPCL and HPCL, 16 tanks each of 26,800 tonnes capacity for storing crude oil will be provided through this. It will also result in shorter distance of pumping, faster vessel turnaround and would enable more effective use of storage tanks at refinery. The bunkering facilities at Jawahar Dweep were also opened on the occasion. This is being done as the result of a tripartite agreement between BPCL, HPCL and Mumbai Port Trust. With the development of the barge handling facility at Jawahar Dweep, Mumbai Port Trust has reinforced its identity as a bunkering hub, and is now geared up to meet a target bunker sales of 2.5 MMTPA by 2023. The occasion also saw the handing over of dry dock and four berths at Indira Dock to Cochin Shipyard (CSL) for 29 years, for floating dry dock and afloat repairs, as part of a joint venture between Mumbai Port

Trust and CSL. The main objective of this project is to develop a world-class integrated ship repair facility on par with international shipyards, in line with the 'Make in India' initiative. With the upgradation of dry dock and introduction of floating dry dock, the facility will be able to cater to 140 vessels per year (as compared to 30 per year now) and would gradually increase it to 200 vessels per year.
